

Restroom Facilities on a USAF C-130

The urinal is by the red arrow; the crapper is by the green arrow.

A Loadmaster standing on the fold-down platform demonstrating how to use the 'facilities'. See the gray privacy curtain that is hanging from overhead to the left of the flag.

This is a newer model crapper in the down position.

The urinal showing the privacy screen extended.

This is the crapper, affectionately called the 'Honey Bucket'. Most people use it in emergencies only.
(The girls have to use it all the time.)
