

This city's old South meeting house appears in the 1860 photo here, the USA's oldest aerial photo

The USS Macon, one of these, first flew in 1933 & was designed to launch & retrieve airplanes in flight

This amazing single-seat fighter with an alphanumeric name saw action in World War II, the Korean War & other conflicts & was not phased out of some nations' Air Forces until the 1980s

Contestant incorrectly guessed B-52!

In 1910 a Wright airplane flew several bolts of silk from Columbus to this Ohio city, possibly the 1st air freight shipment

The highly efficient hybrid wing body has been a long-time dream. Today's engineers are working out the control issues that doomed the 1940s flying wing from this company later paired with Grumman